

Abstract

This project is conducted in order to present an example of computer system in actual business company and propose some improvements if required. Actually there are some restrictions in installing computer system to business organization. The main reason underlying is limitation of resources; personnels, investments, and etc.

This paper provides the overview of the computer system of 'CCT (Thailand) Co., Ltd.' The information system is implemented from the users' requirements. They need low-costed information system to support the routine work and to reduce the workload. The information system is also designed for the staffs who has no background in computer field. Therefore, the easy-to-use interface is designed to suit the need.

