

ABSTRACT

This project is sale information system for a convenient store. Since knowledge of computer science and computer programming has become a basic skill needed to survive in today's information-based society, paper based system should be substituted, because the development and use of computer system are basic to all business functions in today's environment. In order to compete effectively in a world market, all information resources should be fully made use of When the system is fully implemented, all users will get timely and meaningful information which can serve their requirements in controlling, planning, evaluating and decision making.

