

ABSTRACT

Nowadays internet has been popular and widely used as it has proved to be the revolution of the information age. It benefits to people is immense not only for communication but also for huge information search and exploit. All aspects of information of daily life is available on net that include information for education even in Thailand or any country.

This website is newly proposed to promote the new campus of Suan Dusit Rajabhat University located in Huahin, Prajuabkirikhun. Suan Dusit Rajabhat University is one of the well known universities in Thailand. This new campus is especially interesting about the new subjects concerning airline and hotel as a joint program of Suan Dusit University and the airport nearby.

This project also supports the easy online communication between the education industry and the students who want to join the university by creating new distribution channels. The website will serve as the information exchange among the lecturers and students. We hope that this website will boost an increase of local students semester by semester. It also intends to promote the university world wide for international students who are interested to study in Thailand. This website will explain the history and background of the university. Part time or full time lecturers are allowed to apply for jobs depending on the vacancy in the job announcements.

This report involves capacity building for local and international students who want to study airline and hotel subjects in Huahin in the Suan Dusit Rajabhat University and Huahin airport.
