

ABSTRACT

Bangkok Music Co., Ltd. is the trading company that sells the goods which are imported from foreign countries, some from Japan, some from Indonesia and some from Taiwan. The goods of this company business composed of the Keyboard product that is the pianos, electones and the PA Combo product that is the guitars, pas, combos, and Audio product that is car audios, home audios, and Wind product that is winds, percussions and the Music School Business. The total sale amounts is about 500 million baht in each year with the company staff 400 people. The company channel selling is composed of the dealer in bangkok and all regions in upcountry and 8 showrooms of the company in bangkok. The Information System of the company has the applications that run on the mini-computer IBM AS/400. The applications can support the trading business that composed of the billing system, inventory system, account receivable system, cash system, the staff history information system, and payroll system. As the music school business is operated based on manual system. So the top management of the company need an application for support the music school business. So the music school new development system then to be developed for serve need of the top management and all operation staff in the music school, that processing on the mini-computer AS/400. The new system has already been coded and tested and can be satisfactory used for support the music school business.