

ABSTRACT

This project “In-House Web-Based Training Management System” can be useful for all investors who are looking for an application to collect records of training information within an organization through the Intranet.

The “In-House Web-Based Training Management System” is designed to address the development possibilities of all training information such as historical background, scheduling, the determination of certain short comings and achievement evaluation. Various reports, which are valuable for management purposes can be generated.

